Raymond H. Brewer Concludes Service as Supervisor of the Shetucket Mill Club Today—Other Notes.

Raymond H. Brewer of Warren street, for the past nine months supervisor of the Shetucket Mill club, will conclude his service as head of the club today (Wednesday) and with Mrs. Brewer expects to leave for East Hartford on Saturday. When the Shetucket Mill club was organized with the officials of the Shetucket mill, Mr. Brewer was engaged as instructor and supervisor. He came here from East Hartford to assume charge of the newly formed club on September 1, 1914. Since that time the club has grown to a total of 89 members, 22 of whom are women.

Mr. Brewer conducted classes in English and physical classes for both men and women throughout the winter months but has been discontinued for the summer.

Mr. Brewer has no definite plans for the future. During his residence of nine months in this city he has formed many warm friendships and the announcement of his intended departure is viewed with regret by his acquaintances.

It is understood that Mr. Brewer's successor has not yet been selected, and it is said that the club house on North Main street will not be open noon hours and afterwards as in the past, although the evening hours will be the same.

Two of the Sunday schools of the city had their picnics on Tuesday, the Second Congregational and Trinity Episcopal, both making Atlantic Beach their objective point and both going from here on the 8:45 a. m. trolley trip from Franklin square. There were two extra cars at that time which served to carry the 110 in the Second Congregational party and the 80 from the Trinity Episcopal school. Both schools were back here again at the same time, arriving on the 8:45 trip into Franklin square.

At the beach the committee in charge furnished orangeade and peanuts for the Second Congregational party and all the various diversions that the beach afforded were enjoyed. The water was comfortable for a short stay in it. The picnickers took their own lunches on the basket plan.

An informal programme of games was enjoyed by the Trinity Episcopal school picnickers and the lunch was served by the school. The committee in charge made the day a pleasant one by the programme which they provided.

PROGRAMME OF MUSIC AND RECITATIONS

Given at Home of Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Higgins.

Dr. and Mrs. H. E. Higgins entertained a few friends informally Monday evening at their home on Fairmount street in honor of Mr. and Mrs. Jacob Starkweather and their guests, Rev. Mr. Reed of Pennsylvania, and Miss Flora Baldwin, a professor at the University of New Orleans.

The evening was a musical and literary feature, a delightful program arranged by Mrs. Starkweather giving much pleasure.

Mrs. Helen Higgins gave her own accompaniments, playing several well rendered solos, which included, "I Sing Because I'm Happy," "The Lord of the Universe Cares for Me," "The Lord of her own temperance songs," "All saloons Must Go." An enjoyable number was a duet by Rev. and Mrs. Reed, entitled, "Sweeter As the Years Go By."

Interpersed with the music were readings, charmingly given by Miss Baldwin. Several selections, although enjoyed by all were especially given for the young people. These included "Seeing Things at Night," "Jane Jones," "Wind," and "Little Orphan Annie."

An original poem "Old-Fashioned Flowers," one of many poems written by Mrs. Starkweather, was read. The poem was received with much approval to the writer to whom the reading came as a surprise, as she said, "I was not on her programme."

Miss Helen Higgins added much to the evening's pleasure by reading, "Flying Jim's Last Leap," the poem read by her at her graduation.

Postmaster John P. Murphy has received word from the postmaster general that the appointment of Joseph E. Burns for assistant postmaster has been confirmed. He was recommended for the place by Postmaster Murphy and will enter upon his new duties on the first of July.

Mr. Burns has been in the postoffice department something over 15 years. His services in the postoffice have been performed with marked ability and fidelity. The appointment meets with the approval of the postoffice staff and the public in general. He is married and has two children and resides at No. 99 Williams street. He is a member of St. Joseph's Sodality, a fourth degree member of the Knights of Columbus, belongs to Court City of Norwich, No. 63, for many years, and is a member of No. 347, Fraternal Order of Eagles. CURES PIMPLES EASILY

Simple Remedy That Clears Skin Quickly of All Eruptions.

For several weeks past The Lee & Osgood Co. have been big business in selling Hokara, the skin healer that has won so many friends in Norwich.

It has been found to heal not only all minor skin troubles, such as pimples, blackheads, herpes, acne, scaly scalp, complexion blemishes, itching feet, piles, etc., but also the worst sores, ulcers, or even chronic eczema and salt rheum. There is yet to be found any form of wound or disease affecting the skin or mucous membrane that Hokara does not help, and its action is so quick that those who try it are simply delighted with it right from the start.

In spite of its unusual curative powers, the price is trifling. To convince every one of its merits, The Lee & Osgood Co. will sell a liberal-sized jar for 25c. And remember that if you do not think it does what it claims, you can get your money back. You certainly can afford to try it on this plan.

TROLLEY EQUIPMENT OF THIS STATE.

Compares Favorably With Other New England States.

Connecticut's standing among the six New England states, in the matter of street railway equipment, is rather interestingly shown in the following tables, compiled from recent returns of the various operating companies to the public utility service commission of their respective states.

There are, in the six states, 104 distinct street railway systems, located operating companies, divided as follows: In Massachusetts, 47, in New Hampshire, 18, in Maine, 15, in Connecticut and Vermont ten each, and in Rhode Island, three.

Of the extent of some of the separate companies may be gained, when it is that there are 8,619 miles of street railway track in New England, of which 3,132 miles are in Massachusetts, 1,150 miles in Connecticut, 583 miles in Maine, 351 miles in Rhode Island, and 100 miles in New Hampshire, and 132 miles in Vermont; from which it is evident that Connecticut, while far behind Massachusetts in the matter of mileage, nevertheless, has nearly as much as all the other four states put together.

To carry the passenger traffic alone over this vast network of lines, there are 12,852 cars, 6,063 of which are open cars, not available for use in winter, but leaving 6,789 closed cars and 731 semi-convertible cars, a total of 6,763 for mid-winter service. While it is to some extent customary to remove the motors from closed cars for summer use in the open cars, it is more often the case that half the motor equipment from each closed car is taken out, one from each single-truck car which in winter,
